CITY OF JOLIET’S BIG HACKBERRY TREE CONTEST WINNER ANNOUNCED

The winner of the 2015 City of Joliet’s “Big Hackberry Tree Contest” is Robert and Mary Lirot’s tree located at 709 Clement Street, Joliet, Illinois. The tree is 85 feet tall, with an average crown of 61 feet and a circumference of 157 inches or 13 feet, 1 inch. It was awarded 257 points, a method of ranking big trees.

The City’s Tree Advisory Board chooses a different species of tree each year for the “Big Tree Contest” to emphasize the importance of the mature urban forest in the City of Joliet. This is the ninth year that the contest has been held.

Photographs of winning trees are on display at City Hall, across from the Mayor’s office. To see a list of Big Tree Champions in the State of Illinois, search “Illinois Big Tree Registry” on the internet.
